

Opportunities...

Vitiligo Research Foundation:

The VRF are doing a massive study into how much your vitiligo has affected you both physically and in terms of your mood, over the last ten days.

The survey closes next week on 31 May, so there's still a chance to catch up and contribute – the link for the UK questionnaire can be found here but other countries are also on the list, so check out the link and find your own!

Pastest:

If you live in Manchester and have vitiligo, this is a chance to influence doctors' education about the condition, and to earn a small amount of money. Pastest are preparing a filmed medical examination, done by real doctors in the presence of a hospital consultant, of someone with vitiligo and need someone with the condition to play the role of the patient.

For more information, if you're in the area, contact:

Hepzi Heaps-Dagnall, Media Editor

Direct Line: 01565 752054 Email: hepzi.heapsdagnall@pastest.com

Fabulous Mag:

We've heard from Molly Reynolds, a writer for Fabulous Mag, which is the supplement to the Sun on Sunday, who says:

“We're reaching out to you regarding a large feature we are doing here at Fabulous Magazine, the supplement at the Sun on Sunday, about body positivity and living with a skin condition.

We are looking to speak to a variety of people who would be willing to open-up about their story, and I thought you may be able to help us spread the word or get in contact with those who may be interested.

We would use their story as part of a wider body positivity report we are writing, so we would like to speak to women who would be happy to tell us how their condition has previously affected their life and their confidence in their appearance but more importantly how they have now embraced their condition and now feels good in their own skin, and may be able to help others feel so too.

Molly Reynolds

Email: molly.reynolds@fabulousmag.co.uk